The improved facility includes new, larger homeside bleachers, a new entrance and other facilities. The continued growth at New Brockton Schools warranted this renovation to accomodate larger crowds and to allow the school to be able to host playoff games for Class 3A or larger events, if necessary. Those participating in the ribbon cutting included school/system administrators, Coffee County school board members, state legislators, and local beauty queens.

"If we cannot not end our differences, at least we can help make the world safe for diversity." - John F. Kennedy

Angry political protesters gathering at polling places -with guns! You only need one hothead to pull a trigger, or even accidently discharge a weapon and the ensuing disaster will leave a black mark on all America. Tragically that will not prevent some shortsighted citizens from continuing down that slippery road. There are enough hotheads on any side of any political issue (or football game) to cause such an explosion.

We printed last week that Trump would have a heavy win in Alabama but even with that prediction we didn't expect a county (Winston) to vote for President Trump by over 90%! Plus Cleburne, Blount, Marion and Cullman counties all were 88% or above for President Donald Trump. Then in five Black Belt counties Biden received from 72% to 81% of the total vote. Those are some lopsided totals and indicate to us that all Alabamians are not singing off the same song book. Maybe not even thinking in the same language. Which is better for the country . . . only history can give a clear picture of that and we will all be gone by that time.

Saturday morning Joe Biden was anointed with the title of 'President elect" by the news media. This was after it became clear that he was going to win enough state's electoral votes to be elected, come that faithful December meeting of the 538-member Electoral College. When Pennsylvania - 20 delegates (and Nevada with 6) counting gave Biden the magic 270 plus votes to be the majority of the electoral votes, the media named Biden the winner.

Republican diehards are very disappointed with the outcome of this election, as can be expected with by any election out- head back into the world of people! Lou Lou missed people come that is the opposite of what that individual felt was greatly during her isolation!! necessary for the city, state or country. In this situation we are already hearing (on Saturday) that America is headed for a train wreck. Disagreeing with that fear, people should consider that the Senate will very probably remain under Republican control. That balance, Democratic House and Republican Senate, will add checks and balances to the ideas (both good and bad) of any one individual or political party.

Anyone thinking America is 'rid' of Donald Trump is in for a rude awakening. He has lost the office of president, but he has not lost his voice nor his twitter account(s). We also doubt he has lost his love/hate association with the national news media. His nature of outlandish claims, etc., got him to the White House and will surely feed his loyal followers for years to come . . . . like maybe for another run for his only political office. With some 70 million U.S. citizens voting for him last week, he will surely have a large following for anything he wants to chat about.

Our Family Serving Your Family Since 1934

National Home Caregivers Month

Home caregivers are family members that are taking care of a loved one or family in the home rather than in a long-term care facility. Home Caregivers are responsible for the health, well-being and care of the person in their care. There are a myriad of factors that can result in a person choosing to be taken care of at home rather than at a long-term care facility and the reasons can be deeply personal for most families. Here are some helpful tips for Home Caregivers and those supporting them.

Oftentimes, people choose care at home rather than a nursing home for the sake of keeping their loved one close to home. But remaining in the home doesn't mean a lack of professional care. Nurses can be brought in during the day for physical therapy, occupational therapy and more to help with the tasks that must be taken care of by a trained professional. Additionally, home care professionals can be hired to help watch your oved one during the day: oftentimes they can help perform household asks, make sure your loved one is fed and ensure that basic needs are met while you work during the day. These options can be expensive but certain insurance providers, church groups and other resources are available to help with some of the financial pressures that level of care can bring with it. Consider seeing a therapist as an individual or as a family. Taking care of a loved one can be emotionally taxing especially if they are grappling with a chronic illness. It is important to take care of your emotional well being and mental health, too. You can only take care of others if you take care of yourself.

Use your spare time as wisely as you can. Maintaining a routine can be difficult but vitally important when you are acting as the caregiver to a sick loved one. Use the time you do have to see friends, take care of yourself, exercise or simply do a few of the things you enjoy doing in your

THE BATTLE FOR A THANKFUL HEART

"Be careful [anxious] for nothing; but in every thing by prayer and supplication with thanksgiving let your requests be made known unto God. And the peace of God, which passeth all understanding, shall keep your hearts and minds through Christ Jesus." (Philippians 4:6-7)

If you have been a Christian for any length of time, you already know your heart and mind are contested grounds. As believers, we are called to be thankful (1 Thes. 5:18: Col. 3:15; Eph. 5:20). But thankfulness does not always come easy. In fact, for many Christians, thankfulness is a problematic area. We know God has been good to us; to our family; to our town, our state, and our nation, but we often find it easier to complain than to offer thanks. I am not suggesting we should never speak-up or complain for change, but our expressions of gratitude should far outnumber our

Consider what could be listed as the major contributing factors which led to the children of Israel's failures in the wilderness: Fearfulness? Forgetfulness? Faithlessness? All of these could be cited, but one which is often overlooked is ingratitude.

Numbers 11:1-10 "And when the people complained, it displeased the LORD.. and his anger was kindled...We remember the fish, which we did eat in Egypt freely; the cucumbers, and the melons, and the leeks, and the onions, and the garlick: But now our soul is dried away: there is nothing at all, beside this, before our eyes... and the anger of the LORD was kindled greatly ... '

I find that passage troubling; especially when I consider how similar it sounds to modern times. Chronic complaining is so common in society today we little think of its consequences. Gratitude, however, is an attitude which leads to faith-filled living. A person grateful to God shows it in the way they love others, the way they respond when misunderstood and misrepresented.

Paul goes on in Philippians 4:8 to say, "Finally, brethren, whatsoever things are true, whatsoever things are honest, whatsoever things are just, whatsoever things are pure, whatsoever things are lovely, whatsoever things are of good report; if there be any virtue, and if there be any praise, think on these things.

Wouldn't it be wonderful if we were all predisposed to never get anxious, upset or discouraged? I wish I, like Paul, could so command my mind that I would always remember God is good and in control.

But verse 11 is key: "Not that I speak in respect of want: for I have learned, in whatsoever state I am, therewith to be content. I know both how to be abased, and I know how to abound: every where and in all things I am instructed both to be full and to be hungry, both to abound and to suffer need. I can do all things through Christ which strengtheneth me." This is wonderful news because it teaches us that thankfulness is not necessarily a natural trait...IT CAN BE LEARNED!

No Time for Goodbyes

Does it ever seem to you that Jesus was the most unreasonable man who ever A: Mary [Luke 10: 39] lived? What could be more natural than to want to go Thought to Remember home and say goodbye to We don't need more to be one's family? However, thankful for: We just need to keep in mind that saying goodbye can take a long time. Some couples will recall a time, before they were married, when it took half an hour just to say good night! Farewells can take

Remember also that Jesus could read the heart of the Q: Jesus told the rich man to man who made the request sell his possessions and give to return home, while we can read only his words. Perhaps Jesus knows that the young man's parents would try to persuade him not to go after Jesus if he went back home to see them.

The encounters described in Luke 9: 57-62 reveal an urgency about the work of the Kingdom that must not be

Scripture: The Lord helps missed. It is easy for us to forget that urgency. Not a moment of time should be wasted. The return of Christ may be nearer than we think. Our opportunities may be fewer than we think. The one we hope to win to Christ may not have many years, or even days, ahead of him or her. (We may not have many years, or even days, ahead of us.)

The novelist Rebecca West once observed that we cannot imagine Jesus hurrying - yet there was always an urgency about His efforts. While we should never be frantic about our work, we should certainly be urgent. -R.C.S.

Ninety-eight year old Wheeler Wayne never expected to meet General George S. Patton. He also never thought he'd have a front row seat to World War II -- literally.

Born in 1922 in the hills of West Virginia, Wheeler was 21 when he landed in France. His job was driving a Jeep, but not just any Jeep - Wheeler drove officers from lieutenants to two-star generals. And officers went where the action was.

"Not always good," he said, "when bullets were flying around."

In fact, Wheeler said a German fired sideways into Wheeler said, "He called it his Jeep and the bullet like he saw it." passed between his eyes and the windshield.

With their attitude to play 'anyone, anywhere,' they will open the season this week with a short road trip to battle the 7A Enterprise Lady Cats. Coach Shaun Hammonds has a season long plan to develop his team into state contenders, and the first step this season is to challenge a 7A power right off the bat. It was fun to watch Coach Hammonds put the pieces together last season on their way to Birmingham, and the first piece this season will fall into place this week. The

*** The Brantlev Bulldogs made a statement to all the other teams in Class 1A last week with a lopsided 65-9 opening round win over Billingsley. The Bulldogs had been the 'Big Dogs' all season in the 1A ranks before falling to 5A Andalusia in their season finale, and just to make sure everyone remembered who was the top team in the class, the 'Dogs demolished their opening round playoff foe. Make no mistake, these Bulldogs have only one thing on their minds and that's a trip to T-town and a state title.

*** The opening week of the state high school football playoffs went pretty much as expected with only seven #1 seeds losing in 52 games. The #1 seeds eliminated included Valley Head in 1A, East Lawrence in 3A, Williamson in 4A, Pelham, Athens and Hueytown in 6A, and Austin in 7A. There are usually a lot of upsets in the games involving the #2 seeds and #3 seeds. However, this season the #2 seeds advanced in 38 of the 52 games, which sets up some interesting second round match-ups.
